* Data from 2015. Although production decreased, no plants have been sold or dismantled. The production capacity would remain unchanged.  Bioethanol production. Production capacity may be different.  Agrana owns 50% of a joint-venture : Ungrana - Bioeconomy Company, based in Hungaria. This JV also produces bioethanol but its production capacity is not indicated. No ethanol plant in Europe is using sugar beet directly. What is processed is sugar juice also often known as syrup or molasses. Source: EurObserv'ER 2018.
